Dedicated To
Mr. Robert J. Tolle

Mr. Robert J. Tolle, Chairman of the Biology Department and respected member of the faculty for thirty-seven years, retires in June 1967. In his constant pursuit of educational excellence, Mr. Tolle has introduced into the Stuyvesant curriculum the elective courses in Advanced Placement Biology, Applied Biology, and Applied Zoology. Mr. Tolle has constantly stressed the importance of meaningful communication and this has been evident in his own associations with students and colleagues.

The Class of 1967, therefore, dedicates this yearbook to Mr. Robert J. Tolle, a sincere and gifted educator and friend, who has gained the whole-hearted admiration of both the student body and the faculty.

To The Graduates Of 1967:

Three years ago, you entered Stuyvesant High School as anxious and somewhat apprehensive sophomores. You have studied and labored; you have engaged in extracurricular activities, clubs, sports, publication of the various periodicals, radio broadcasting, oratorical contests, the chess and math teams, student help, and the innumerable other activities; you have learned the method of politics by your class, club and G.O. elections; you have improved in knowledge and skill; you have developed qualities of perseverance, industry, responsibility, and leadership. You have left an enviable record of achievement for future classes to emulate. Your scholastic achievement has been high, and your other achievements have not been lacking.

Your courage and industry have not been wasted. Knowledge, skill, leadership, character, responsibility, and personality are always in demand. Industry is expanding as fast as the training of the necessary men will permit. Every profession needs an endless influx of new capable personnel. Even now you are valuable to your family, to your country and to mankind. Further training in college, in professional school or in industry will enhance your value. It is only the faint of heart that say — but this is an unusual world. It is in unusual situations that great men are selected from their less able fellows and started on the road of greatness.

Stuyvesantians of the future will hear with pride of your contributions and sacrifices, both small and large. They will glory in those who perform exceptional services. They will look with envy upon all of you for living in a time when worth brought its full reward. Carry on as you have in the past three years — with courage, intelligence, and above all with character and manhood, — your lives cannot be failures. And when sacrifice is demanded, remember the thoughts of the poet Horace,

For in the after time
One who has suffered much and wandered far
May take a pleasure even in his grief.

To all of you, Godspeed and good luck.

Sincerely yours,
Robert J. Tolle

To Members of the Senior Class:

It is a pleasure to greet the members of the Class of June, 1967, on the eve of their graduation. It is, I believe, safe to assume that you realize you are fortunate to have had the opportunity to receive your secondary education in Stuyvesant High School. At Stuyvesant, you have had the rare opportunity of developing mentally and physically in an environment best calculated to meet your individual educational requirements.

Our dynamic curriculum is continuously adapted to conform to the changing needs of students in the second half of the twentieth century. Our demanding courses of study have prepared you for entrance to the collegiate world where you will spend the next four years. In the extra-curricular areas of sports, student government, clubs and literary activity, you have had an opportunity of self-expression calculated to develop your individual personalities.

In the years ahead, I hope you will continue to follow the worthwhile goals set for you in Stuyvesant. I believe they will help to make your life happy and meaningful.

To all graduates, I offer my warmest congratulations.

Sincerely yours,

Leonard J. Fliedner

To the graduating senior, Stuyvesant High School, during his years there, was a secondary school of a highly specialized nature. In retrospect, the name intimates much more; it takes on all the allure and excitement of New York City.

As one of three specialized academic high schools, Stuyvesant has a high caliber enrollment from throughout the city admitted by means of competitive examination. This fact constitutes the first step, one of many for the Stuyvesantian, toward an ultimate cosmopolitanism. In the Stuyvesant environment, the home neighborhood becomes less and less of a necessary refuge, and relationships, both casual and lasting, are easily formed; this occurs despite the ethnic differences which would make this difficult elsewhere, even in ethnically complex New York.

Much has been said about the individualism of Stuyvesant students; it exists, it persists, it is undefinable. Only the uninformed generalize about Stuyvesantians. The variety of interests, enthusiasms, special talents and abilities is seemingly endless. The range seems even broader than the endless variety of the city. The undifferentiated enthusiasm for learning which the entering student brings to this school in this city is focused, broadened and sharpened. With a Stuyvesantian, one must know not only the general area of his interest, but the precise sub-division of this interest.

Despite the excellent and varied curriculum enriched by a wide offering of extra-curricular activities, the vital factor in forming the Stuyvesantian lies elsewhere. The catalyst is the large, ready heart of the vast metropolis. The Stuyvesantian who has disregarded the obstacle of travelling a distance to school soon progresses to a constant exploration and discovery of his hometown, New York City. Without this broadening, even his substantial Stuyvesant education is inevitably limited. Stuyvesant's campus is the city; the combination of top school and top city is hard, if not impossible, to surpass. Be it the area of political, musical or scientific activity, a Stuyvesantian will sooner or later take part.

Although never losing sight of the goals of college and a successful career, Stuyvesantians indulge in all the things that make education more enjoyable. The sum total of the Stuyvesant experience is that the individual has become a little freer to absorb and to enjoy. Stuyvesant is a means, not an end, and through it, this New Yorker, the Stuyvesantian, has had a very special formation in a unique environment.

ACTIVITIES

The Stuyvesant General Organization is the parent body of all student activities in the school. The Executive Council, the G.O.'s governing body, has had one of its most productive years under the leadership of Donald Ready, Owen Joyner, and Robert Schwartz as president, vice-president and secretary respectively in the Fall '66 term, and Jack Delmond, Sewanyana Kironde, and Jeffrey Aronson in the same offices in the Spring '67 term. The first administration was highlighted by examination of various alternatives to the present elective system. The spring administration busied itself with the successful production of Stuyvesant's Second Student-Faculty Show and revision of the constitution.

The Executive Council, working with the school treasurer, Mr. J. Nack, and faculty advisor to the Council, Mr. S. Schindelheim, held its weekly meetings after school in order to make them more accessible to the general student body. The G.O. membership is kept informed of developments by the G.O. Newsletter and also by a weekly distribution of the minutes of the Executive Council meetings.

To administer the senior rites, the graduating class has its own student officers. This year, under the supervision of Miss Eileen Lynch, the Senior Form Council was headed by President Neil Cartusciello, Vice-President Mark Bittman, and Secretary Lee Pomeranz. Senior Council duties included the following: the collection of the senior dues by Treasurer Larry Cahill; the publication of the Senior Chronicle; and successful coordination of senior activities.

Vice-President Bittman was editor of the Chronicle. Jack Halper and Mike Shpizner were the Senior Hat vs. Sweatshirt Committee. President Cartusciello, general administrator of the Council, was responsible for Senior Night on March 3rd. Everyone had a hand in the planning of Senior Day, a successful activity chaired by Larry Passintino. But the Council's major effort was directed to the 1967 Prom at the Biltmore Hotel. Chairman Elliott Masie and Prom Committee members Marty Klein, Lloyd Miller, Ed Schneider, Larry Passintino and Laurence Gilbert devoted much time to investigation of hotels and facilities, and to presenting necessary information to the student body. The end result of their efforts was an especially successful dinner dance. Music was provided by a six piece band, corsages were provided for all the young ladies and each couple received a color photograph of themselves. This year's graduating class is indeed gratefull for the enthusiasm and ability that characterized the Senior Form Council.

Stuyvesant's chapter of the National Honor Society, Arista, has over two hundred members. The Arista Council, consisting of Fall President Mark Kimbrell and Spring President Victor Jung, Neil Cartusciello, Laurence Gilbert, Frank Chin, Laurence Klein, Paul Arida, Robert Gallant, and Neil Feinstein headed the Student Visiting Committee which acquainted junior high schools with Stuyvesant's offerings. Another major Arista activity was the intra-school tutorial program directed by Victor Jung and Michael Appel. Arista also directed its efforts to social activities and participation in a city-wide form on the draft. Mr. Astrachan was the faculty advisor.

Indicator

The Indicator is the result of the ceaseless efforts of a group of muddle-headed scholars. With the desultory direction of Co-editors Bob Slater and John Freund, the intangible contributions of Paul Rubinstein, the unfounded criticisms of Alan Stamm, the cockeyed photography of Perry Small, and the inaccurate reportage of Laurence Gilbert and Larry Singer, the book has taken the shape of a masterpiece. Despite the haphazard business tactics of Jonny Zeichner, a weath of advertisements was miraculously acquired. Special thanks are due to Miss Hegarty who has unfailingly helped to delay deadlines and compound mistakes. A final word of thanks must be extended to the Ugandan Embassy which afforded our staff the opportunity of signifcant cultural exchange.

Spectator

Fulfilling the student's desire for news in and about his school, The Spectator has a long standing tradition of good reportage and enlightening articles. Under the editorial leadership of John Freund, Fall '66, and Edward Gartenberg and Jeffrey Arsham, Spring '67, new methods of informing the student were devised, with the accent on more student participation. Among the innovations introduced were the opinion polls and a larger letterbox. There was also an increase in reviews, with timely articles on the New York Scene.

The publication of the school newspaper could not have been possible without the work of the various page editors. Stuart Jaslove was Executive Editor and Lawrence Weber and Lawrence Singer were Features Editor and News Editor, respectively. Managing Editor Mark Flomenbaum's success in handling the financial aspects of the paper was nothing short of remarkable. The staff is also indebted to Mr. William Ince, the faculty advisor, who helped to fit the loose ends together.

The literary enthusiasm of Stuyvesantians is well served by the literary magazine, Caliper. Published twice a year, Caliper offers a wide variety of student ideas expressed in poetry, fiction and criticism. This year's editors, Neil Cartusciello, Sheldon Penner, Jonathan Reiter, Mark Sendor, and Jonathan Sands, effectively guided their large staff to the successful publication of two exceptional issues. The staff in turn was aided by Mr. Henry P. Wozniak Jr., the faculty advisor. As in past years, high standing in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Conference reflected the fine quality of this student magazine.

Nucleus

The annual issue of Stuyvesant's official science magazine, Nucleus, publishes a well-balanced selection of articles on aspects of the biological and physical sciences in which students have either performed experiments or engaged in research. All of the articles offer interested students more detailed accounts of topics covered in classroom courses. This year, the staff, which includes Ronald Modlinger as editor-in-chief, William Brownstein and Joel Moskowitz as executive editors, and Mr. Simon as faculty advisor, has shown the determination to produce a magazine of significant interest that is truly worthy of the outstanding Stuyvesant Tradition in science.

The Little Magazines

In addition to the major publications, Stuyvesant has a series of smaller but equally noteworthy journals to serve specific needs and interests. L'Etoile is published by the French Department, Zarkor is produced by the Hebrew classes, and La Voz Estaivesiantiava and Die Deutsche Zeitschift represent the efforts of the Spanish and German language classes respectively. These magazines give interested students a chance to try their hand at writing and reading in a foreign tongue at a creative level. There is also the Math Survey, published under the auspices of the Math Department. Finally, there is the G.O. Newsletter, vital as a line of communication between the student body and the student government.

Band

The Stuyvesant Symphonic Band, under the direction of Mr. Bart, played at the 99th and 100th Semi-Annual Concerts, and at graduation. At the Winter Concert on January 6th it played the following pieces: "Prelude and Fugue in G Minor" by Bach, "First Swedish Rhapsody" by Leidsen, and the "Melodies from Operettas" by Romberg. The 70-piece Band plays an integral part in the cultural life of Stuyvesant. It affords the opportunity for young musicians to perform and gain experience, while also providing enjoyable live performances of fine music.

Orchestra

The 65-piece Stuyvesant String Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Chusid, performed at the Music Department Assembly in the fall, at the Winter Concert on January 6th, and at the Spring Concert on May 19th. Continuing Stuyvesant's study in the arts, Mr. Chusid has encouraged students to write original numbers, particularly for the Hundredth Semi-Annual Concert. In this way, it is hoped that students will be well-versed in the theory of music and will become better musicians as well as representatives of a well-rounded Stuyvesant student body.

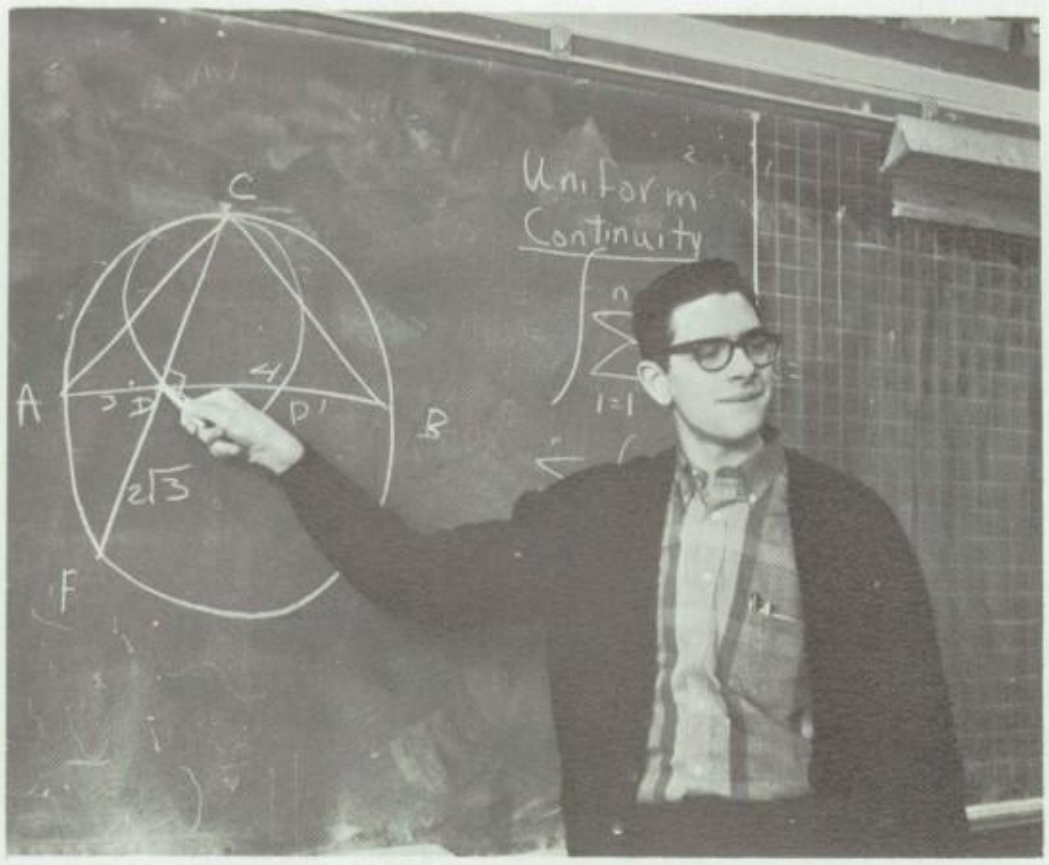
Glee Club

The Stuyvesant Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Harris, has done exceptionally well this past year. Its outstanding performers include Michael Appel, William Boyd, David Goldman, Robert Maestre, and Edward Schneider, all of whom are representing Stuyvesant in the city-wide singing group. The Glee Club performed at both the 99th and 100th Semi-Annual Concerts, singing such selections as "A'Roving" and "They Call the Wind Maria". All vocalists in the Glee Club are chosen through auditions which are held each year by Mr. Harris.

Math Team



The Stuyvesant Math Team, under the direction of Mr. Greenberg and the leadership of Co-Captains Steven Weintraub and Daniel Hirschberg, is assured of second place in the city competition. With such outstanding members as Alvin Martin, Arthur Ross, and Richard Arratia, the team has a substantial chance to be the City Champion. The five team members that represent Stuyvesant are chosen from the Math Team class which meets daily at 8:00 A.M.. They practice solving a variety of problems which do not require especially advanced knowledge, but warrant much mathematical intuition.

Chess Team

Again this year, the Stuyvesant Chess Team completed a successful season in competition with other high schools in the city. Our team, with Mr. Stefanacci as its faculty advisor, finished in a tie for third place in the city-wide championships. Captain Arthur Roth, with a record of 4-1-1, received a prize for ranking among the top three in his board. The team was also paced by Co-Captain Jed Stein, 3-1-2, Jerry Marcus at 3-1-1, and substitute Henry Friedel at 4-0-0.

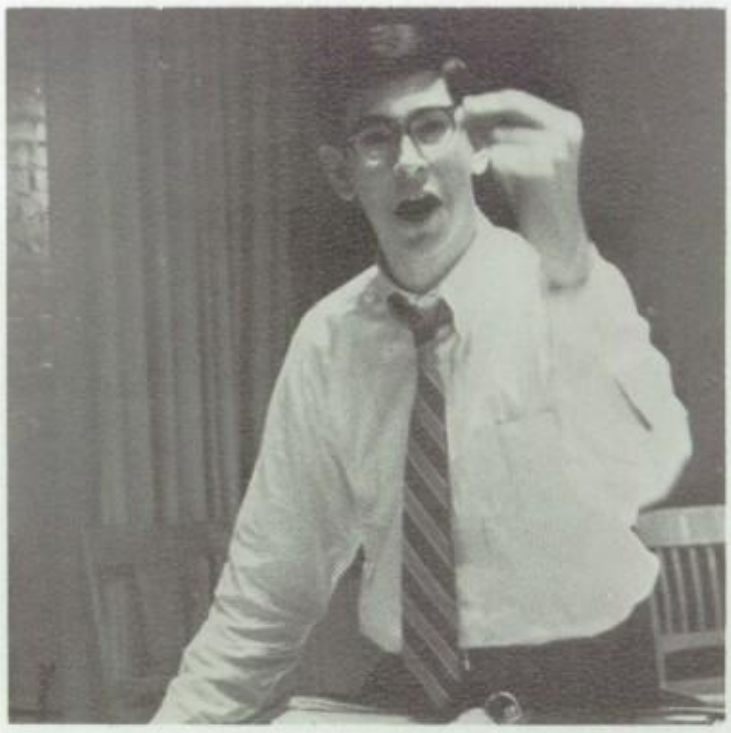
Debating Team



The 1967 Stuyvesant Debating Team includes Captain Todd Breitbart, Co-Captain Alan Deaton, Debate Society President Peter Jacoby, David Albert, Ralph Williams, Fred Rapaport, Jeff Arsham, and Charles Fitzgerald. The debate topic this year was the following: Resolved: that foreign aid should be limited to non-military assistance. The team, coached by Mrs. Ferrara, participated in the New York State Championship and in the Columbia and Dartmouth tournaments. The main competition facing our debaters was provided by students from private schools.

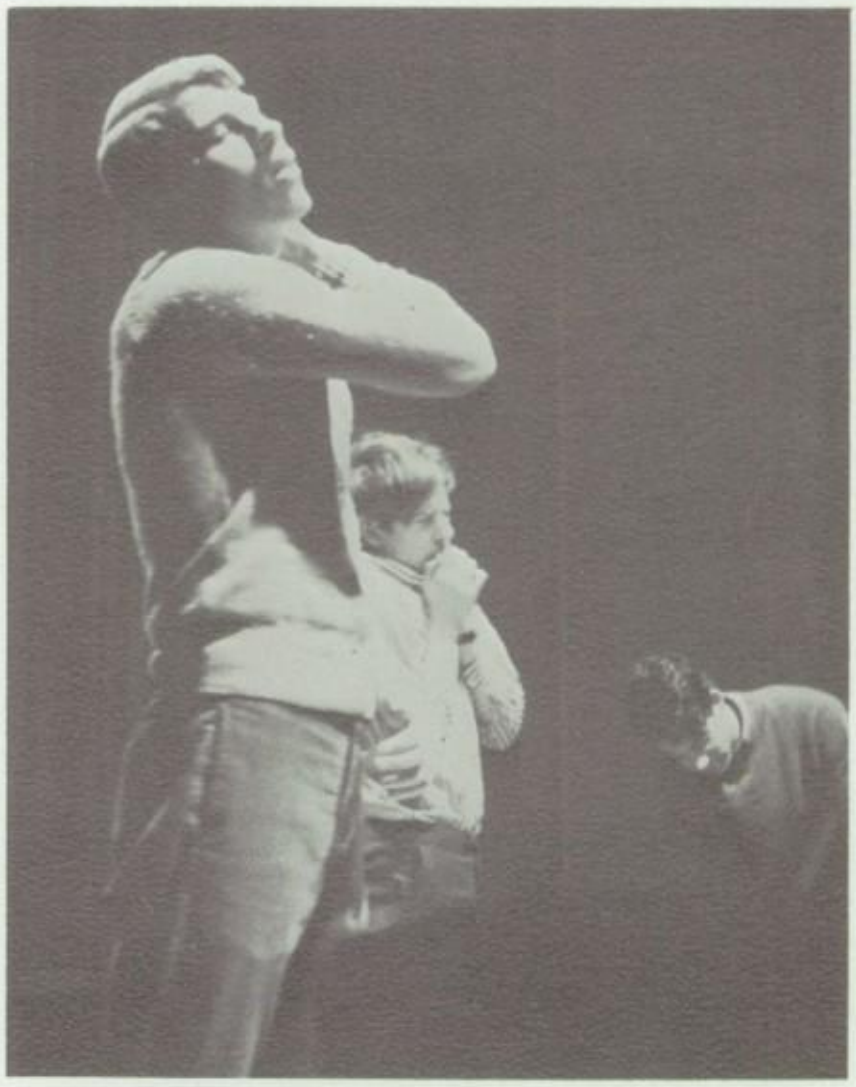
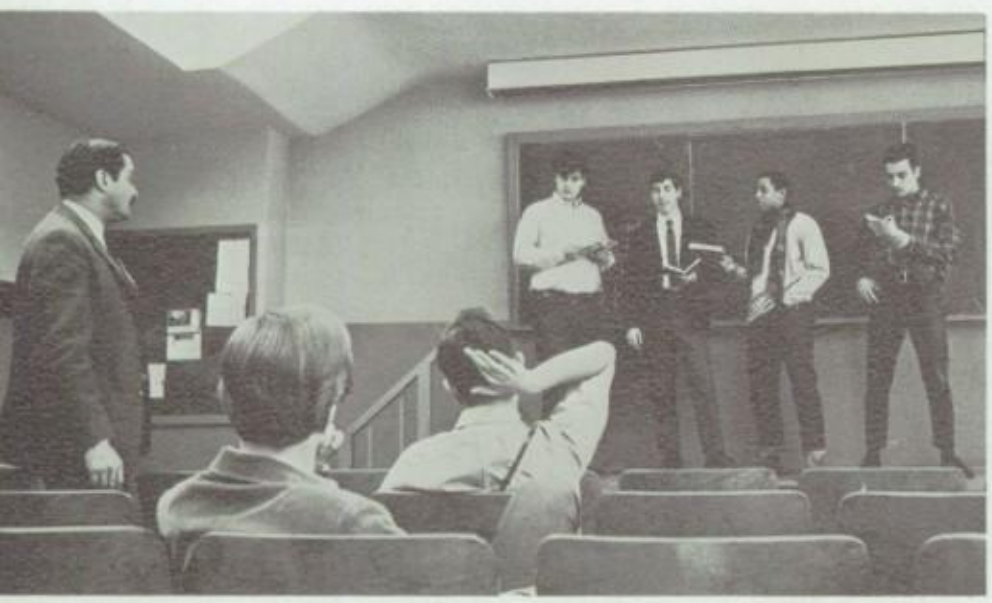
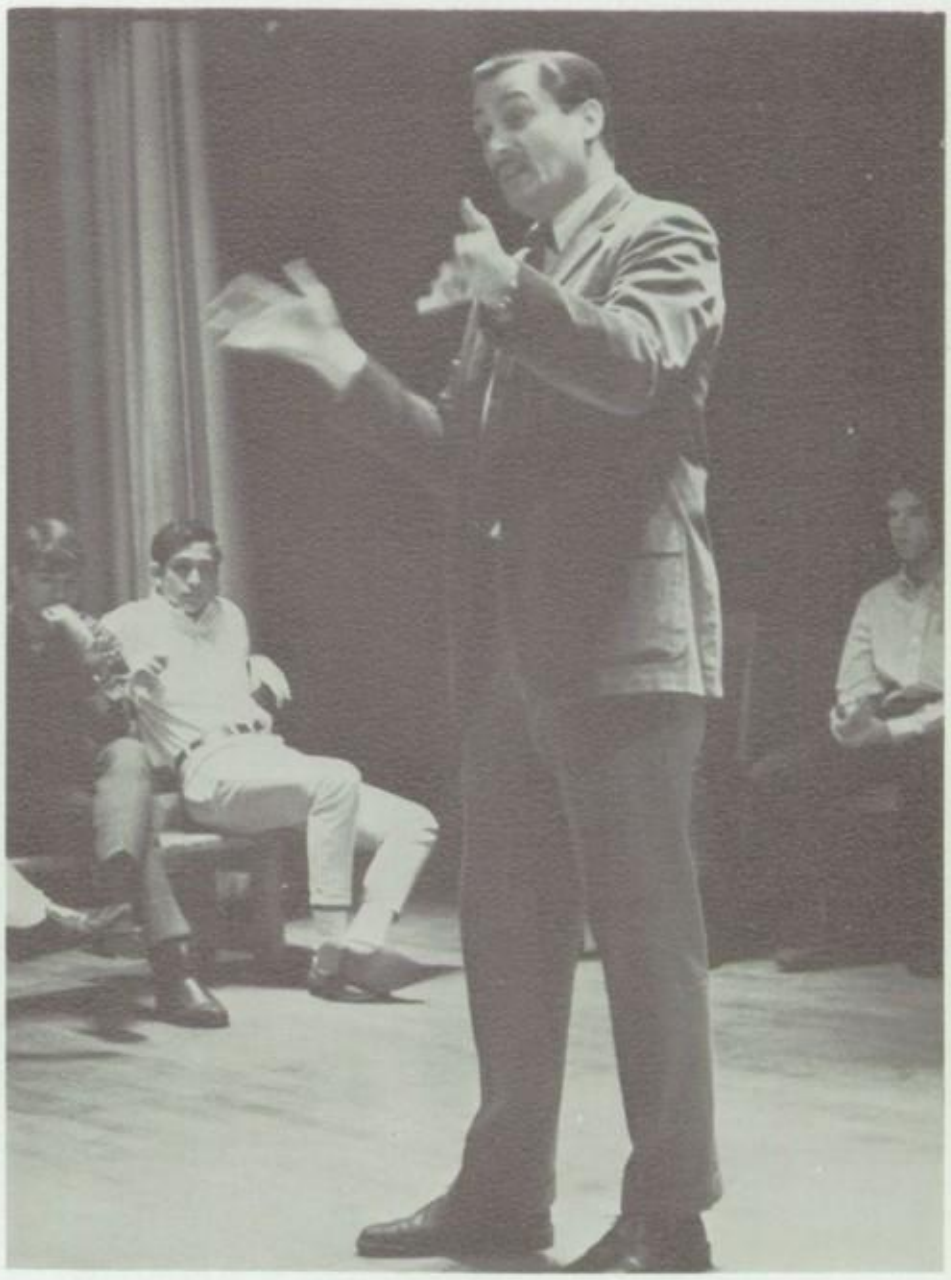
Drama

Besides its scientific and mathematics orientation, Stuyvesant has taken positive steps toward the development of a well-rounded student. Through one of the most popular non-science electives, Speech Arts, and the guidance of Mr. Jensen, interested students are given the opportunity to learn the basics of public speaking and the application of such skill. The first portion of the course gives instruction in oratory and extemporaneous speaking. Then, the technicalities of stage acting are introduced, culminating in the Student-Faculty Show.



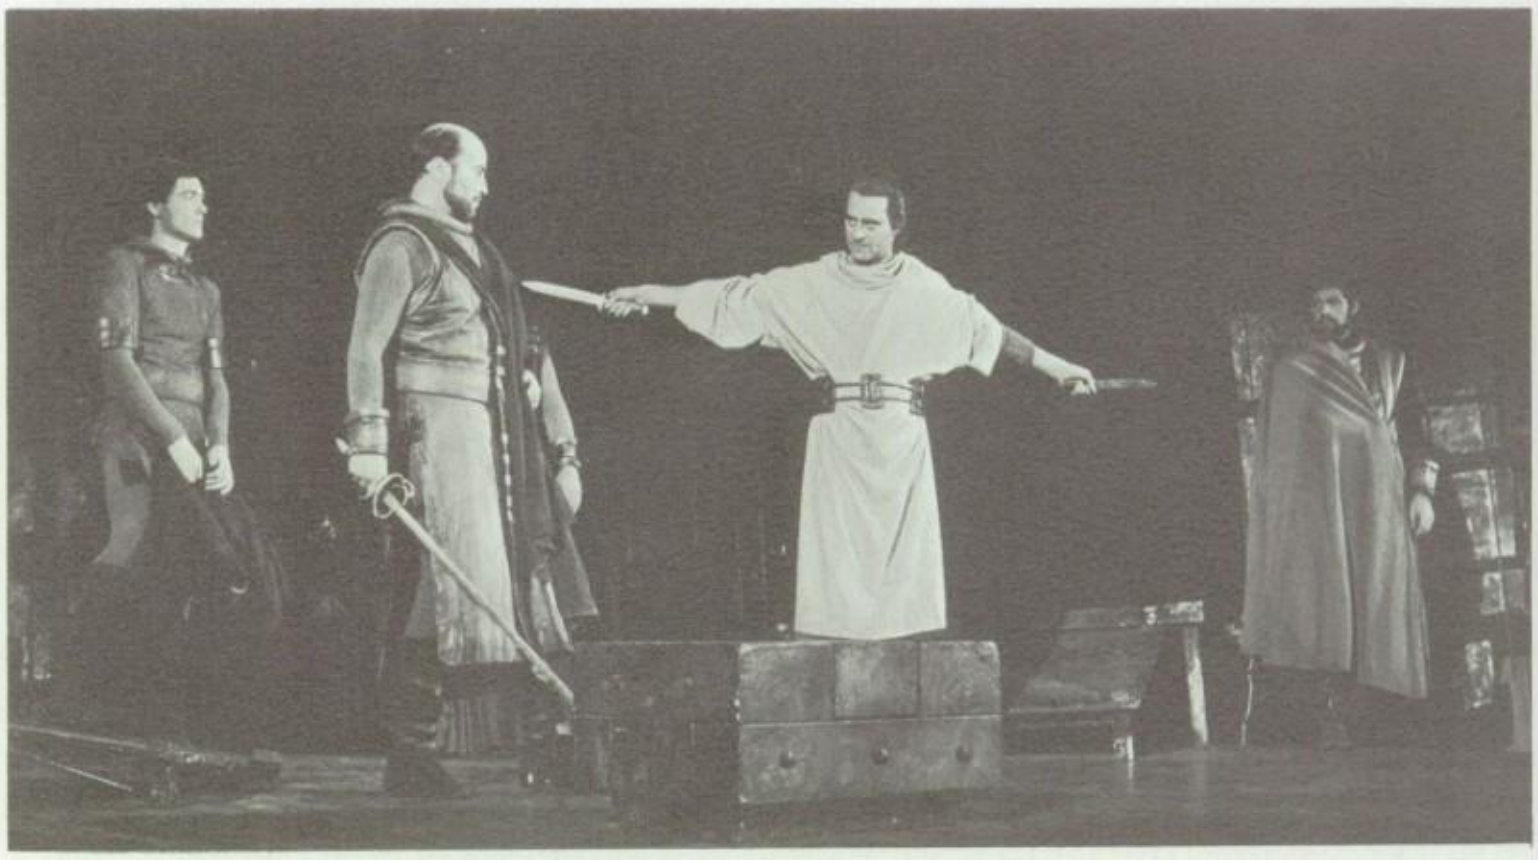




After academics, sports, and clubs, a Stuyvesantian's time is taken up by a variety of Special Activities. For the class of '67, the most notable of these was perhaps the immensely successful Student-Faculty Show presented in May 1966. The first in Stuyvesant's history, it was directed by Mr. Jensen, with the invaluable aid of many students and faculty members. Utilizing the wealth of talent in the school, the first half presented the history of Stuyvesant High School in a slightly exaggerated form. The second portion showed off the talents of Stuyvesantians in acting, singing, dancing, and ending with a riotous Stuyvesant A-Go-Go. Preparations for the '67 show began with the Spring term, and with the promise of an equally enjoyable night.

In addition, Stuyvesant was treated to an interesting performance of Macbeth by the Joseph Papp Shakespeare Group. Our usually bare stage was transformed into quite something else and the auditorium was jammed. Then, in May, there was the annual trip to Stratford, this year to see Julius Caesar.

There were special assemblies presenting such speakers as Marianne Moore, Jean Shepherd, and the editors of Mad Magazine. The traditional activities of Senior Night, Senior Day, and the Senior Prom took place with their usual success, bringing the year to a memorable and pleasing close.

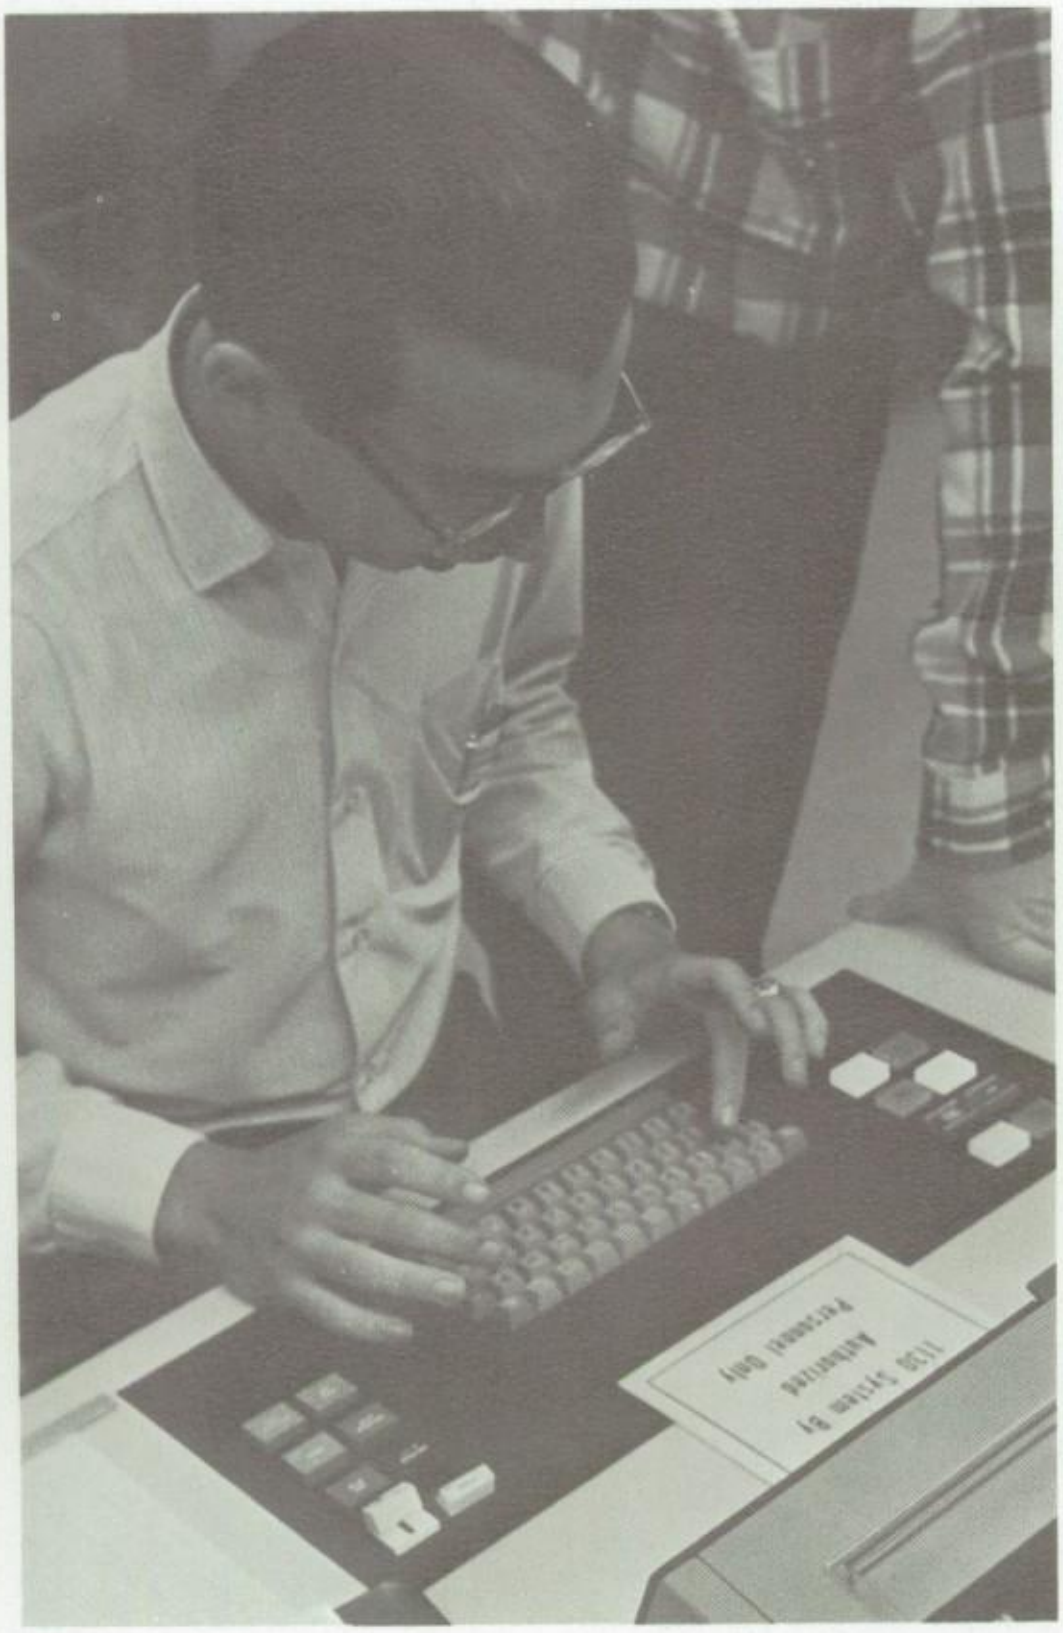


Special Activities

Mr. Bart conducts the band at Stuyvesant's Hundredth Semi-Annual Concert.

Broadcaster Jean Shepherd answers a question at December's special assembly.

Dr. Fliedner performs at the Winter Concert.



Attending a specialized academic high school, many students here expand their academic experiences with participation in the varied program of extracurricular activities. An integral part of these activities is the existence of the numerous clubs which meet regularly. These clubs provide the chance for some of the most rewarding aspects of high school life, and it is especially true at Stuyvesant where there is a club for almost any taste. The purpose of the clubs is basically to take up where the classroom leaves off—that is, to provide a chance for stimulation and advanced work in areas not covered by the standard academic curriculum. The clubs are originated by the students themselves, so they are directed into any area desired by the club members. The classroom teaches a student something about everything, but the club tries to teach him everything about something.

Player for player, the Stuyvesant football team was considered by knowledgeable critics to be among the best in the city. However, the disappointing record of 1-5-1 did not prove this observation. The team was hurt by repeated injuries to top players and by inexperienced players in a few key spots.

The brighter side of the season included a 66-0 romp over a tough Smith team and the selection of several players for the All-City Team. The team was sparked by Tommy Davis, who was on the All-City First Team, and by Dennis Albaneze and Phil Marino, two strong players who both earned spots on the All-City Second Team. The Peglegs were also strengthened by the presence of Captains Kenny Richardson and Mark Fisherman.

Unfortunately, we must note the retirement at the end of this season of Coach Murl Thrush, who has directed the Stuyvesant football scene for over thirty years. He was ably assisted this year by Mr. Eckhaus and Mr. Bellush.

Captain Peter Nogradi discusses strategy with coach Sharkey.

This year's Fencing Team was one of the brightest lights on the Stuyvesant sports scene. Starting with a double shut-out against Clinton and Morris, the team continued in fine form to achieve the spectacular record of 9-0-0 and the City Championship. Leading the team into victory were Captain Pete Nogradi, Jeff Lerner, Dean Perlman, Paul Gordon, Bob Buchsbaum, and Rich Freedman.

In the City Finals, Seward, our first opponent, was easily defeated. The Foilsmen also scored over Van Buren, admittedly a top team, securing a city finals berth. The final with Brooklyn Tech was one of the closest in PSAL history. After 12 bouts the score was deadlocked at 6-6. As a result, a three-man winner take all competition took place. Lerner and Perlman, with respective scores of 5-3 and 5-1, coupled with the encouragement of Coach Sharkey, clinched the championship for Stuyvesant.

As the season reached its half-way mark, the Basketball Team began to get over its early season troubles and exhibited the strength to overcome such complexities as having only one returning letterman, several new members, and stiff competition.

The offense was led by Captain Malverse Martin, a fine scorer and rebounder. Larry Cahill and Jay Varin assisted with exciting offensive contributions. Because of the overall lack of height, the Hoopsters were forced to play a deliberate style of offense.

The team, coached by Mr. Cavallaro, should be commended by all for its courageous effort throughout the season.

This year, led by Captains Jonathan Korechoff and Keith Furuya, the swimming team compiled a fine 5-2 record under the direction of Coach Gioberti. Sparked by the captains and backed by fine performances from returning lettermen Bernie Friedman, Larry Axelrod, Robert McNamara and Howard Dananberg, the team got off to an excellent start by defeating a high-rated Franklin team in their first meet of the year. With high spirit and fine swimming, the team had compiled a 4-0 record by their fifth meet. However, the Merman were no match for a strong Seward team and so met their first defeat. The team dropped its next meet to Hughes, but made a fine comeback to win its final meet against Food Trades, and to complete an exciting and notable year.

Riflery

After last year's narrow defeat by Brooklyn Tech, the Rifle Team bounced back to win the City Championships for the first time in half a century. The Nimrods had an undefeated, untied record under the guidance of Coach Anik. The Champs are as follows: Scott Shafiroff, captain; Ken Heisler; Stu Lind; Nat Tzodikou; Rich Schwartz; Harvey Licht; Bob Garozzo; and Joe Galler. The letter-men of last year's team, Shafiroff, Heisler, Lind and Schwartz, painfully recall the 'Rods 881 to 872 loss of last season to Tech. But the score was settled this year; Tech never made it to the finals.

Stu Lind, who shot an amazing 190 (out of 200) in the Championships, will set the pace next year as the team captain. The Nimrods will be without the services of Shafiroff, Heisler, Schwartz and Galler who graduate this year. They'll be missed.

The Rifle Team's victory brings the coveted Whitney Trophy back to Stuyvesant after an absence of fifty years. The last time the 'Rods hit that mark was back in 1917.

The 1966 Stuyvesant Soccer Team had its finest season in many years. Despite its 3-6 record, several aspects of the team's performance were outstanding, particularly the defense. Their skillful hindering of the opposition's offense kept Stuyvesant's losses to a small margin. The defense was led by Co-Captain and Goalie Norm Shulman and Fullback Leslie Newmark. The best all around game on the team was credited to Captain and Forward Oliver Petrichney, who led the offense along with Forward Nick Hanges. Mr. Sheldon is the team's coach.

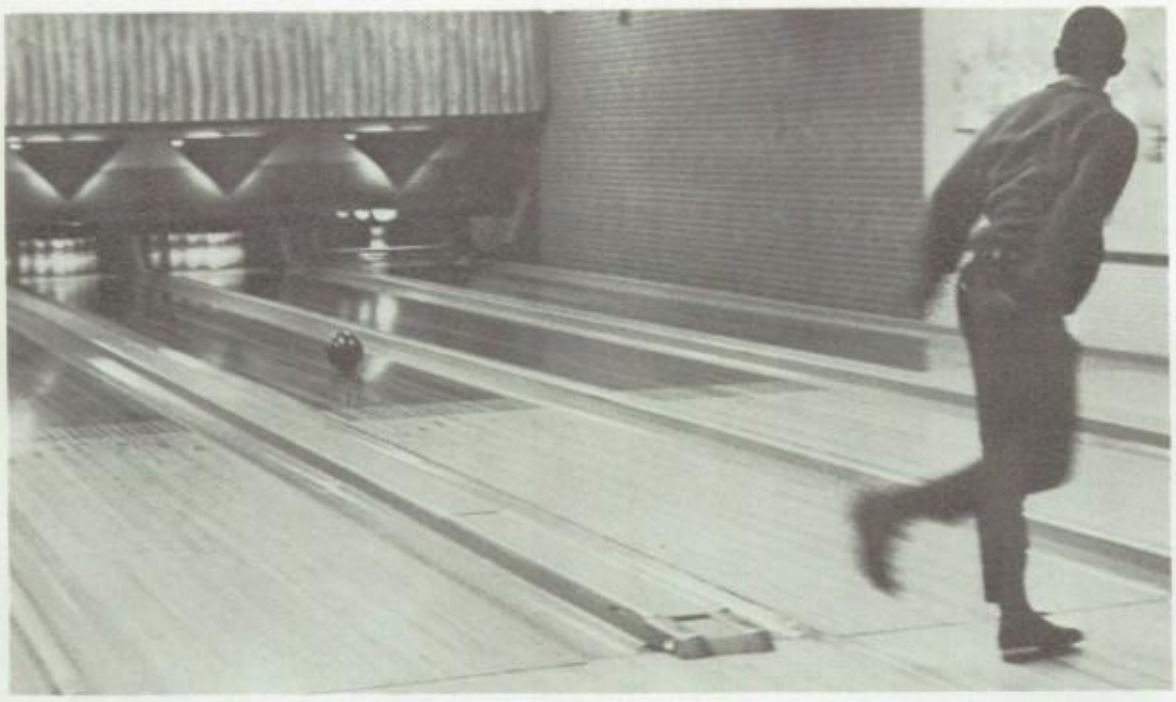
Soccer



This year, for the third straight time, Stuyvesant's Bowing Team, coached by Mr. Buchman, captured the Manhattan Championship. The Keglers, led by Captain Steve Wu and Co-Captain Nick Kourabas, compiled a 9-1 record in the inter-high school competition. Wu, averaging 173, placed seventh in Manhattan, and Kourabas, averaging 179, placed fifth. This year's star was Jim Lloyd who placed third in Manhattan and fifth in the entire city. In the playoffs, our team beat Printing for the borough championship, but then suffered a heartbreaking loss to DeWitt Clinton by only one pin. Others on the team that helped to achieve an overal 10-2 season were Richard Wong, Paul Chu, Mark Goodman, and Mark Seifer.

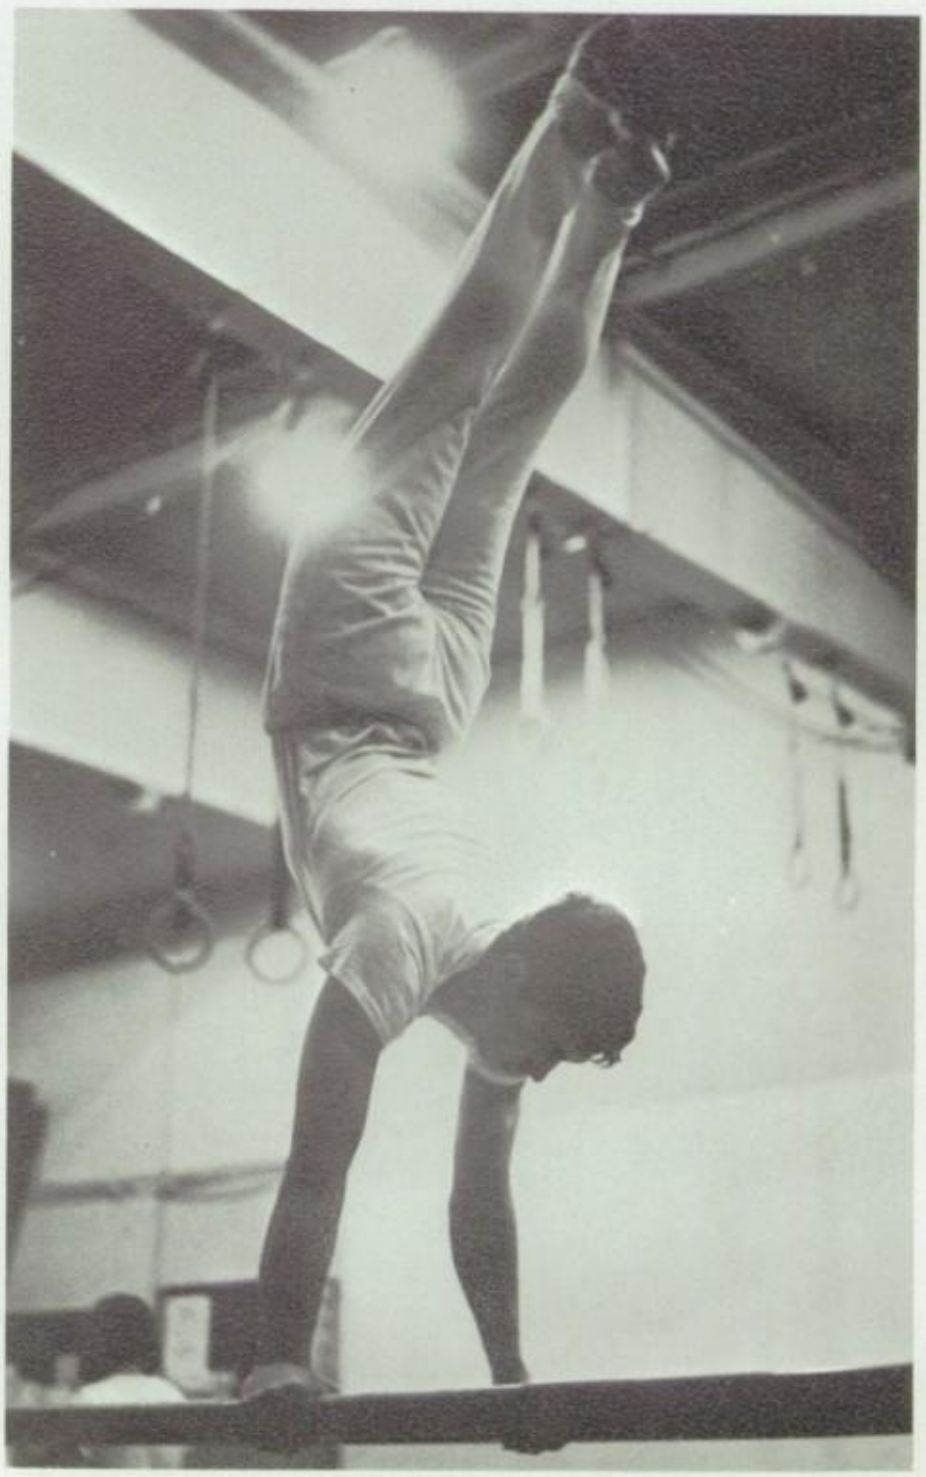
As Stuyvesant's Gymnastics Team entered its fourth season, led by Coach Sheldon and Captains George Eastman and Harry Tom, the general feeling about the team's eventual standing in the Manhattan Championship was one of optimism. The addition of several talented team members far outweighed any attrition due to injuries and graduation. Hopes were only slightly marred by the close opening loss to the defending Manhattan Champ, Franklin, 57-55. In PSAL gymnastics, the maximum total score of both teams is 112 points.

A meet consists of seven events: floor exercise, side horse, parallel bars, long horse, horizontal bar, tumbling and rope climb, with most team members concentrating on two. Senior members of the team included Eastman (parallels & l. horse), Tom (floor X. & s. horse), Catullo (horizontal & ropes), Davidsohn (tumbling & ropes), Hastil (tumbling & l. horse), and Leo (parallels & l. horse).



The final measure of the quality of Stuyvesant's Track and Field Team comes when the dual meets begin in the Lower Manhattan Division's big outdoor season. Any doubts were removed by seasoning in early indoor meets. The Bishop Loughlin, Cardinal Hayes, N.Y.U., and PSAL Meets provided stiff competition from all over the tri-state area, and Stuyvesant made a fine showing at all. The team is led by Co-Captains Basil Papaharis and Mitchell Orfuss, two of the finest quarter milers in Manhattan. Other outstanding team members are Charles Coffield (100 yd dash & high jump), Jeff Wildfogel (mile), and Bobby Halpern (two mile). Also playing integral roles in team competition are the boys on the 880 and mile relay teams. The boys are coached by Mr. Moses Davis, who stresses rigorous speed training and unified team effort.

The Stuyvesant Cross Country Team, headed by Captain Jeff Wildfogel and coached by Mr. Moses Davis, ended this year's season with a respectable 4-2 record and fifth place in the Manhattan Championship. Fine support was given by Bob Halpern, Mitchell Orfuss, and Basil Papaharis. The schools competed against were Franklin, Seward, Food and Maritime, Chelsea, Manhattan Vocational, and Metropolitan.

The Handball Team looks forward to another excellent season. Last year, the team compiled a 10-2 record, achieving third place standing in the city wide competition. This year's team is headed by starting singles players Marty Diamond and Mike Mazzeo, and a starting doubles team of Barry Brenner and Allen Greenbaum. Other members of the team include Saul Cohen, Robert Gonzalez, Kenny Tom, and Steven Rosenbaum. Mr. Cavallaro takes over this season for the first time as coach.

Golf

Fired on by last year's loss of the Manhattan-Bronx Championship by only one stroke, the Golf Team, under Mr. Gaffney's coaching, is determined to be the division winner this year. Headed by two able and outstanding varsity players, Edward Moskwiak and Howard Berman, the team plays a series of nine-hole meets under the rules governing match play. Their home field is Marshall Golf Course.

Stuyvesant's Tennis Team is looking forward to a successful season under the direction of their new coach Mr. Anik. The Racqueteers' prospects appear bright as they will have five returning lettermen from last year's 6-3 team. They are Mike Westerman, Andre Joseph, Roger Leifer, David Lipson, and Larry Seidman. The schedule includes the Bronx High School of Science, Clinton, Taft, Roosevelt, Monroe, Washington, and Music and Art. The stiffest opposition is expected from Clinton and Science, two perenially powerful teams.

The dual meets consists of three singles and doubles matches. The team that gains any combination of three victories is the winner of the meet.

This year the Baseball Team will try to live up to its great 7-3 record of last year. Under the able coaching of Mr. Sharkey, our returning letterman are Captain Andy Solano, Co-Captain Larry Cahill, Peter Gaffney, Philip Adis, Bob Sofu, Gene Siegel, Mike Colianni, and Bob Hughes.

The team's schedule will include games with Food Trades Hughes, Seward, Printing, and Metropolitan Vocational. The players are optimistic about winning the Manhattan and City Championships.

THE STUYVESANT ALUMNI AND SCHOLARSHIP ASSOCIATION

This is your Association. Through it, you continue your ties with Stuyvesant — and help the Stuyvesantians of the future.

In the past fourteen years, the Association has awared approximately $100,000 for scholarship aid. Committees of graduates in various fields offer vocational and professional guidance and advice and assistance where possible.

The Association has special membership dues for current graduates, which come out of your senior dues, and cover you throughout your first four years in college.

Information of your activities, in and out of college, for the Alumni Bulletin is always welcome, and helps to preserve our bonds.

We welcome the graduates of 1967
